

BEHOLD ... THE VENUS GARUDA By Robert Ernst Dickhoff

VENUS GARUDA

Who or even what is God A big question perhaps the biggest and age old One that may never be resolved unless we take a different view of the subject a radical view perhaps but necessary as the ramifications of this question are to say the least huge having so far been left to philosophers and priests to anatomize and parcel their understandings as to the identity of the personage in so called heaven Is God the kindly old man in flowing white robes residing on his throne among the clouds serenaded by harp playing angels as he directs the cosmos Or is he likely to be an alien spaceman highly advanced disguised invisible infiltrating every facet of human activity behind the likely trope of Jehovah god of the Old Testament BEHOLD THE VENUS GARUDA.
